Ex CIA Aide Will Direct Probe of Riots in U.S. Cities

President's Commission Says Inquiry Will Seek
To Learn If There Was Conspiracy in Disorders

Special to Buffalo Evening News and Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 — A former key operative in the Central Intelligence Agency has been named director of investigations for the President's Anti-Riot Commission.

Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, commission chairman, announced Friday that Milan C. Miskovsky, 41, will "supervise independent inquiries into whether there has been planning or conspiracy in civil disorders."

It was learned that Mr. Miskovsky played a leading role in negotiations to free the Cuban Bay of Pigs prisoners and to exchange Soviet spy Rudolph I. Abel for U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers in 1962.

As yet, Gov. Kerner told a press conference, "no evidence" has been found of any conspiracy, but the commission has "not rejected the possibility."

Gov. Kerner said the commission was hoping to make "short-term" recommendations to President Johnson before Jan. 1, two months ahead of the deadline for an interim report.

The governor declined to disclose the details of the interim report but indicated it would propose greater involvement of private industry, universities and state and local government in helping to prevent riots.

Gov. Kerner said investigation thus far revealed a "feeling of deep inferiority and rejection" by Negroes and cited it as a major factor in provoking disorder.

He said the white community was largely unaware of the problem and did not know how "deep and sensitive the feelings run."

He said the three main areas of bitterness are inability to get good jobs, good housing, or good education.
